Krown Rust Control is an environmentally-friendly, proven effective body maintenance program designed to help protect vehicles and commercial fleets alike from rust and the corrosion process.

Whether it's winter salt residue, high precipitation from spring rains and damp autumns, or high humidity from our Ontario summers, Krown works year round to protect your vehicle from the elements that cause rust.

The exclusive Krown spray formula displaces moisture and covers metal surfaces with a thin corrosion-fighting barrier that won't evaporate. Its thin liquid consistency allows Krown to penetrate into crevices, cracks and weld seams that affect your vehicle's structural integrity and safety in the event of a collision. Krown is also self-repairing, so protection is assured even after a stone hit. It helps to lubricate fasteners, brake cables, power door lock and window mechanisms, and protects electrical connections and wiring harnesses, assisting to minimize your service costs.

Founded in 1986, Krown is a proudly Canadian company that is not a franchise operation, but a wholly Owner-Dealer co-operative with over 230 members in Canada. Krown on Glasgow Street in London is operated by the Beukeboom Family.

You get excellent consumer protection with Krown's corporately backed national warranty program for new or used vehicles, plus locked-in pricing for as long as the warranty is intact (ask for details).

Krown is endorsed by the APA (Automobile Protection Association), a non-profit auto industry watchdog. They are the only national rust control system approved by CAA.

Help your vehicle to last longer, look better and maintain a higher private resale value with an application from Krown Rust Control. A mobile service is available for fleets.
